Learning Menu Showcase

On Thursday, 22nd February we will be opening school up to showcase some of the fabulous homework over the last term. You will be welcome to come in and see some of the wonderful things the children have been doing at home. It will be displayed in school from 3:30pm—4pm.

Non-Uniform Day, Friday 23rd February

If you have multiple children in the school, please only bring something for one child, not for all. If you prefer, we just ask for a voluntary contribution of £1.

Mrs Ashcroft's Magic Moment

I think Penny Ashcroft is already thinking of Pancake Day as she made Miss Williams giggle by announcing "Miss Williams I have left my pancake on the floor, oh no I mean my whiteboard!" I hope you really enjoy eating all your pancakes Penny!

Divide the 1st number by 7 to get the 2nd. Then subtract 11 from the first number to get the 3rd.

If your name isn't above, you either got it wrong, worked out a far more complex pattern than was presented or it is still lingering in the bottom of your child's book bag!

We will name and shame the people who got it wrong in next weeks hotspot! (Just joking!)

Uniform

Uniform is looking much smarter—thank you for your continued efforts with this. I just want to clarify a few things to help improve it further still...

- Non-excessive hair pieces
- Small gold/silver studded ear-rings
- Dark, plain socks with trousers
- All charcoal grey attire—no black
- Polo shirts, not button shirt/blouses

As I've always said, if your child is not adhering to parts of the uniform such as a polo shirt rather than a formal shirt/blouse, please don't go out and buy something if it still fits, just replace it when you are next shopping. Many thanks!
